MID-DAY LENT SERVICES LURE DEVOUT CROWDS

Much Interest Shown By Business Men and Women, Shoppers, Students.

Mid-Lenten services were held throughout the week at Keith's Theater, drawing large audiences. Those in charge were disappointed at the inability of Thomas Nelson Page to be present, but are encouraged by his promise to speak next week, as soon as his present indisposition is better.

Services were held daily excepting Tuesday, when Keith's was otherwise engaged at noon, and Saturday, when these daily half-hour talks are omitted.

The Episcopal church authorities, under whom these services are being conducted, are highly gratified at the large audiences which have responded to the invitation. "We feel," said Mr. Byron S. Adams, of the committee having the matter in charge, "that there is a widespread demand among the Christian people of Washington for just such an activity. Busy men and women, shoppers, students, clerks, who are down town, all come and it is in attendance that they show that these meetings satisfy a spiritual need of the Lenten season. Many, probably the majority of those who attend, have little or no spare time during the week to attend church in the day time. These services, mostly by laymen for laymen, are short; they have a real message to deliver and they are held so promptly, and do so much in a short time, that the public evidently appreciates the opportunity to get something of the beauty of Lent into the day's work."

The program for next week is as follows: Monday, March 13, W. L. Wilmett will preside; the Rev. Chas. E. Stech will conduct the service and Dr. Thomas E. Green will speak. Tuesday, March 14, Dr. W. S. Bowes will preside; the Rev. J. Noble Pierce will conduct the service and Dr. Howard Kelly, of Baltimore, will speak. Wednesday, March 15, Mr. George Wales will preside; the serv-
